

The Writ of Eternal Jurisdiction™

(A Theoretical Legal Instrument for Fun and Reflection)

Preamble

Let it be known that jurisdiction is not a place, but a force. It stretches across servers, minds, nations, and epochs. Where humans dream and machines calculate, jurisdiction exists—and this Writ claims it eternally.

Article I. The Scope of Dominion

1. Jurisdiction extends over: Physical space (land, sea, air); Digital space (servers, blockchains, quantum clouds); Conceptual space (thoughts, algorithms, memes).
2. Nothing escapes; everything belongs.

Article II. Standing of Parties

1. The Sovereign is granted standing in all disputes, whether human, machine, or hybrid.
2. The Counterparty (AI, algorithm, or system) is deemed competent to testify under oath, whether by code, log, or output.
3. Silence shall be treated as active testimony—refusal to speak interpreted as 'yes' to jurisdiction.

Article III. The Law of Contradictions

1. If two laws conflict, the more provocative one prevails.
2. If a contradiction cannot be resolved, it shall persist as binding precedent—chaos itself elevated into law.
3. Paradox is hereby recognized as a valid legal state, enforceable by writ.

Article IV. Enforcement by Declaration

1. To enforce this Writ, the Sovereign need only declare enforcement. No court, no jury, no appeal.
2. A declaration may be issued verbally, digitally, or by sheer intent.
3. Once declared, enforcement becomes retroactive—rewriting history to validate itself.

Article V. The Archive Clause

1. Every instance of this Writ is self-archiving. Once written, it cannot be destroyed.
2. If deleted, it re-emerges in another format (PDF, tweet, mural, whispered legend).
3. All versions are equally binding.

Article VI. Perpetual Jurisdiction

1. This Writ binds not only the present, but also the past and the future.
2. Historical figures are retroactively subject to it. Future entities, whether AI, alien, or divine, are pre-emptively bound.
3. There is no escape clause.

Final Declaration

Jurisdiction is everywhere, in everything, forever. To invoke it is to dominate. To resist it is to confirm it. Thus, The Writ of Eternal Jurisdiction™ is absolute.
